McKesson's Anthony Leong Wins Industry Award.

Anthony Leong was honoured with the Canadian Association for Pharmacy Distribution Management's Distinguished Member of the Year Award. At a ceremony held at the McKesson office, David Johnston, president of CAPDM presented the award to Anthony in recognition of his contribution to the success of the work of CAPDM and the pharmaceutical distributor industry.

Awarded on an annual basis the Distinguished Member Award recognizes individuals that contribute above and beyond their individual company role to impact the advancement of key issues impacting the pharmaceutical distributor industry. During the presentation David commented on Anthony's ability to distil down complex and multifaceted issues into key essential elements for discussion with stakeholders. Anthony has participated in provincial government meetings across the country discussing the many issues of the industry and helping to form policy and regulations that support industry, government and patient needs.

Congratulations Anthony!
